

Comment No.	Response – Protection – L. Mouriquand
1-G	Increased participation by tribes, implying consultation, is addressed. Support is noted.
1-H	Increased participation by tribes is addressed. Support is noted.
3-E-1	Increased participation by tribes is addressed. Support is noted.
3-E-2	Increased participation by descendant communities is addressed. Support is noted.
3-E-3	Ordinances are not specifically addressed, but your comment will be retained for later consideration.
3-E-4	Creative site protection as a priority is addressed in the discussion on the ideal situation. Support is noted.
3-E-5	Guidelines that include creative site protection needed. The discussion on the need for new mandates implies the development of guidelines. Support is noted.
3-E-6	Landowner/developer awareness training and education programs for the public are addressed in the Ideal Situation section and in the How to Bridge the Gap section. Support is noted.
3-E-7	Specific recommendations will be retained for later consideration.
4-J	Specific recommendations will be retained for later consideration.
4-K	Specific recommendations will be retained for later consideration.
6-E	The need for cultural resource management plans in every local jurisdiction and increased education is addressed. Support is noted.
7-D	The need to encourage increased participation by descendant communities and increased education for the public is discussed.
8-F-1	The need for local level staff positions, better university training, and increased Native American participation is addressed. Specific recommendations will be retained for later consideration.
8-F-2	Support is noted.
8-F-3	Education for local governments on SB 18 requirements is addressed. Support is noted.
8-F-4	Specific recommendations will be retained for later consideration. Training is beyond the purview of the white paper. Support is noted.
12-G	The commenter may have misunderstood the intent of the White Papers. Effective archaeological site protection requires an educated public, and local governments, about the values associated with cultural resources in order to foster a willingness by the public and local governments to support protection.

12-H	The need for legislative remedies is addressed. Support is noted.
14-E	Comments will be retained for later consideration.
15-B	The problems associated with assessing site significance are addressed under Current Situation. The need for increased tribal participation is also addressed. Specific recommendations will be retained for alter consideration.
16-C-1	The need for better trained archaeologists, utilizing more complete information to assess archaeological sites and making recommendations for creative site protection is addressed. Support is noted.
16-C-2	If understood correctly, this comment essentially says “listen to the Native Americans” when they provide information. This aspect has not been addressed by this paper and should be included in a revision.
16-C-3	The need for standards and guidelines is addressed. Specific recommendations will be retained for later consideration.
16-C-4	Coordinated sharing of archaeological site information between and within government departments is essential for site protection. The development of confidential databases, with access controls, will help protect sites. Specific recommendations will be retained for later consideration.
19-C	Recommended revisions have merit and should be considered in a re-write of the paper. Comments regarding implementation of various tasks will be retained for later consideration.
22-E-1	The recommendation for local governments to develop cultural resources protocols is discussed. The suggested crime reporting comment will be retained for later consideration.
22-E-2	Comment regarding needed training is noted and will be retained for later consideration.
23-C	The white paper should be revised to include more discussion about tribal consultation.
24-A	Support is noted.
26-D
27-B	Comments will be retained for later consideration.
30-D	Comments will be retained for later consideration.
31-C	Comments will be retained for later consideration.
36	Comments will be retained for later consideration.
40	Comments will be retained for later consideration.
43-C	Comments will be retained for later consideration.

44-D	The white paper should be revised to include more discussion about tribal consultation.
45-C	Comments will be retained for later consideration.
46-A-37	Comments will be retained for later consideration.
47-C	Comments will be retained for later consideration.